Dear Sir or Madam

My Company has recently tried using your EZ Street Polymer Modified Asphalt.

We deployed it in a very busy area of South London [SE12] on a long stretch of carriageway that had a wide variety of pothole issues, so it was an excellent testing ground.

We were extremely impressed with its ease of use, especially the compaction achieved. This was a few days before the coldest December in the U.K. for about eighty years, so it was to unfold as even more of a test. We re-surveyed the site a few days ago and found that 100% of the reinstatements are still good.

We have noticed that other potholes in this part of the U.K. repaired by other contractors or Local Councils using the old established techniques have virtually all failed.

We will be using EZ Street materials as a matter of course from now on.

Yours faithfully
